Eutelsat and Airtel power LEO connectivity for Indian Army relief efforts in Sri Lanka

- Partnering with Airtel and the Indian Army to support relief operations
- Enabling critical communications and 24/7 telemedicine support in affected regions

New Delhi, 15th December 2025 - Eutelsat (ISIN: FR0010221234 - Euronext Paris / London Stock Exchange: ETL) together with its partner Airtel, is extending its OneWeb, Low Earth orbit (LEO) satellite connectivity to strengthen the Indian Army's ongoing humanitarian relief operations in flood-impacted areas of Sri Lanka.

With the deployment of Eutelsat's OneWeb high-speed, low latency LEO services, the Indian Army has been able to re-establish reliable communications in regions where terrestrial networks have been severely disrupted. The connectivity is facilitating 24/7 telemedicine consultations with specialist medical teams, ensuring the Army is able to deliver essential healthcare and emergency assistance to affected communities without delay. The initiative highlights the critical role of resilient, fast, satellite infrastructure in restoring essential services and in operational continuity during disaster response efforts.

Neha Idnani, Regional Vice President for APAC, Eutelsat, said: "Eutelsat is deeply committed to supporting the Indian Army's relief efforts with OneWeb LEO connectivity, delivered in partnership with Airtel. The ability to maintain high-quality communications in crisis situations is vital, and we remain committed to equipping organisations on the ground with secure, resilient connectivity required to safeguard lives and enable essential services."
